Participating as an exhibitor at the 2023 FPHA Educational Conference will give your company/organization a forum to share information about your products and programs with a variety of public health professionals from all over the state of Florida. You will also gain full access to top-notch conference topics and speakers. We will recognize your company/organization in the conference program, meal signage, and on the FPHA event page. Below you will find the exhibitor prospectus and a link to complete the online registration paperwork to become an exhibitor for the 2023 FPHA Annual Educational Conference.

Your company/organization is a valuable partner and resource for public health professionals and the Florida Public Health Association. We know that our partnership can provide a pathway to excellence in public health.
